

Your child visited the Life Education Center!

Students focused on the importance of making good choices for their amazing and unique bodies. With the help of TAM, a transparent anatomical mannequin, they reviewed the body's organs before being introduced to transparent, animated body systems. They discussed how each organ's health is important and how all work together as a team.

Students had the opportunity to help mascot, Harold the Giraffe get out of a peer pressured situation and then role played different scenarios.

The importance of making good choices every day was highlighted again when students took a spaceship ride to Conformatron – a place where everyone is the same and individual choice is not an option. Students had to escape back to earth by thinking about how different they are from one another.

Students watched a video, "What Are Drugs?", and reviewed safe medicine tips, including proper storage.

Remind your child that as a family you choose:
